PROMINENT MEN TO VISIT CITY

Baltimore Bankers and Capitalists Coming.

Party of Fifteen Will Visit Greensboro Tomorrow For Purpose of Looking City and County Over With View of Making Investments — Banquet At Night by Chamber of Commerce, Followed by Informal Reception and Smoker.

A party numbering about fifteen prominent bankers and capitalists of Baltimore, including the president of the Baltimore Stock Exchange, will visit Greensboro Saturday by invitation to inspect Greensboro and Guilford county, including High Point, with a view of making investments.

The party will be shown over the city and county by a committee of citizens and will visit the State Normal and Industrial College, the Proximity, Revolution and White Oak Cotton Mills, the new substation of the Southern Power Company. The members will also be taken in automobiles over the county in order that they may see Guilford's roads and the magnificent country through which the roads pass.

At night the party will be tendered a banquet at the Guilford Hotel under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. A number of representative citizens of the city will be present with them at the banquet, after which the banqueters will adjourn to the Merchants and Manufacturers' Club rooms where an informal reception and smoker will be given.

The party will come direct from Baltimore and after the reception will return in a special car attached to one of the northbound trains.

DIRECTORS' MEETING.

Directors of Greensboro Life Insurance Company Hold Sixth Annual Meeting.

The sixth annual meeting of the directors of the Greensboro Life Insurance Company was held yesterday in Greensboro, and among the prominent out of town directors in attendance upon the meeting were Matt J. Hyers, of Wilmington; R. P. Richardson, of Reidsville; F. K. Borden and Henry Weil, of Goldsboro, and J. A. Hadley, of Mount Airy. Mr. J. E. Latham, of this city, presided as chairman. Four directors were re-elected, these being, Capt. J. W. Fry, A. B. Kimball, Dr. J. T. J. Battle and Julian Price.

While the Greensboro Life is the youngest life insurance company in Greensboro, the secretary's report showed a most gratifying condition of affairs. The year 1910 had witnessed improvement in every way; gains in assets, surplus, premium and interest income, in insurance written and in insurance in force, with a decided profit for the year.

The report showed $800,000 in admitted assets, with a surplus to policyholders above all liabilities of $222,184.58; total amount of insurance in force on paid for basis of $10,023,275, a net gain for the year of $1,591,804. To this splendid showing were the additional figures for January 1911, showing a business of $458,000 in applications being the best January in the history of the company. The directors took occasion to congratulate the secretary, Mr. Julian Price, on the really wonderful increase in business and especially for the economical manner in which it had been secured.

The directors were all enthusiastic, and all seemed proud of the achievements of their company, especially as it is the youngest in Greensboro, being but about five and a half years old.

To Arrange Program.

The executive committee of the Woman's Missionary Union, of the Orange Presbytery, met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Osborn, yesterday afternoon from 2:30 to 6 o'clock, for the purpose of arranging a program to be carried out by the union at the annual convention in April. Among the out of town members of the committee were: Mesdames J. E. Briscoll, of Durham; E. C. Murray, Graham; J. K. Mebane, Graham; Z. V. Walser, Lexington, and Joseph C. Archer.

WILL HIGH POINT GET NEW COUNTY?

The committees on counties, cites and towns of the senate and house yesterday afternoon voted on the bill to establish Piedmont county. The house committee voted favorably by a vote of ten to five, but the senate committee voted against the bill by a majority of ten to four. So the bill will get a favorable report in the house, with a minority report, while in the senate it will get an unfavorable report with a minority report. It is safe to state that the bill will be killed by the senate, even though it should get through the house, which is quite unlikely.

THE MASONIC AND EASTERN STAR HOME

Committee Is Now Ready to Receive Funds Subscribed by Greensboro People.

The following letter is being sent out to those who subscribed to the fund for the Masonic and Eastern Star Home in order that the institution might be brought to Greensboro:

"You are respectfully notified that the Committee authorized to solicit and collect subscriptions for the Masonic and Eastern Star Home for Indigent Masons is now ready to receive the funds.

"Checks mailed to Mr. F. C. Boyles, Cashier Commercial National Bank, will be duly acknowledged.

"Under the terms of your donation the money was to be called for in instalments of 10 per cent. We have been urged by some subscribers to accept the entire amount at first payment, which is perfectly satisfactory.

"At the last meeting of the Grand Lodge of Masons of North Carolina, the proposition of the Masons of Greensboro was formally accepted and is as follows:

"Cash, $5,000.00. Site of 25 acres near Lindley park.

"Mr. J. Van Lindley has duly executed a deed to the site and the document is now on record in the office of Register of Deeds of Guilford County.

"It is the desire of the Building Committee to begin work at once, or as soon as the funds are available.

"Hoping to hear from you by return mail, and assuring you that we thank you for the subscription you have made, we remain,

Yours very truly,

"J. P. Sanders, J. A. Kleemer, H. C. Simpson, J. M. Millikan, C. M. Vanstory, C. E. Hudson, J. J. Phoenix, A. S. Cate, F. C. Boyles, Committee."

UNCLE SAM NEEDS HELP.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission announces that the semi-annual spring examination for stenographers and typewriters will be held in Greensboro, N. C., on March 31, 1911. Male stenographers and typewriters are in demand, and persons competent and willing to accept the salaries offered have much greater prospects for appointment than applicants for other clerical positions. The entrance salaries for male stenographers and typewriters vary in different departments and offices from $600 to $1,200. per annum, but in most of the offices the entrance salary is $840 or $900 a year. For application form 304, and pamphlet of information, form 1424, apply to J. H. Armfield, secretary of local board of examiners, Greensboro, N. C.

Mr. Johnson Delighted His Audience.

Last night at Greensboro Female College Mr. Cameron Johnson delighted the faculty and students together with a number of people from the city with an illustrated lecture on historical subjects. Tonight, beginning at 8 o'clock, he will give another lecture, treating the period of English history embracing the reigns of Henry VIII and Queen Elizabeth, and the years immediately following the close of the Elizabethan era. Persons from the city desiring to attend the lecture may obtain tickets at the door for 25 cents.

Who's Been Scalped?

Mr. Sam W. Davis, of the Stove and Furniture Exchange, next door neighbor to The Telegram, reported to The Telegram yesterday that he had found a head of hair. It was a beautiful chestnut brown. Mr. Davis is wondering whose head it once adorned. It is full of very small hair pins, indicating that it belongs to a lady.

It is just as hard for a man to mend his ways as it is for a woman to patch up a quarrel.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE HELD

Christian Endeavor Thirty Years Old.

Society of Grace M. P. Church Celebrated Founding of Movement Last Night —An Able Address by Rev. H. E. Rondthaler, of Salem—Church Appropriately Decorated—Special Music For the Occasion.

Last evening at Grace Methodist Protestant church many Christian Endeavorers met to hear an address by Rev. Howard E. Rondthaler, president of Salem Female College, it being the occasion of the 30th anniversary of the founding of the Christian Endeavor Society.

Mr. Rondthaler is a speaker of originality and consecrated ability. His voice is clear, his personality attractive, and every sentence he uttered in his address last evening was fraught with helpful and spiritual advice to Christians. His illustrations were especially unique and original, especially that of the seed which being left to itself wondered why it had been abandoned by the sower without attention and human assistance, and did not germinate until it learned that it must depend upon the sunshine and the rain which came alone from the hand of God.

The one changeless motive in this life is the love of Jesus Christ, said the speaker, that love which never varies. He said that it was the expectation of this love that prompted the Christian to do his best and to live up to this expectation of Christ. It is the motive that makes one exert oneself, just as the expectation of the employer moves the employee to do his work well; that the teacher who gets the best work of the pupil does so by love and the confidence and sense of responsibility thus inspired; there is something moving us not to disapoint the expectation of love.

The church had been tastefully decorated for the occasion. From one side of the church to the other was stretched bunting, in the State colors: White-purity; green-growth; gold-sunshine. Just over the speaker's desk was a large C. E. monogram in the state colors. On the left side of the pulpit were large figures in gold—1881, the date of the founding of the society, while on the right side were the figures 1911, also in gold.

The program for the evening included special music, a solo by Miss Marguerite Cartland and a solo by Mr. W. S. Cook being especially enjoyed.

The first society of Christian Endeavor was founded in Williston Congregational church, Portland, Maine, on Feb. 2, 1881, by Rev. Francis E. Clark. From this beginning the movement has extended into every nation in the world, the literature being printed in 23 different languages. Dr. Clark, the founder, is now president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, which is composed of about 80,000 societies and a membership of over four millions. The organization is striving to secure 1,000,000 new members by July 1, more than half of this number having been already reported. The movement is interdenominational and there are societies in every denomination of the Protestant faith.

Sharpe Brought Back.

Deputy Sheriff George Crutchfield returned last night from Columbia, S. C., where he went after Charlie Sharpe a young white man, who is wanted here on the charge of seduction under promise of marriage. The alleged crime was committed at Revolution about one year ago. Sharpe was arrested in South Carolina a few days ago, but refused to return here without requisition papers. A preliminary hearing will be held within the next few days, probably tomorrow. Meantime the prisoner is in jail.

Light Registration.

Less than two hundred voters have registered since the book was opened last Thursday morning, making a total registration of about 1100. In order to participate in the election Tuesday one must register unless they registered for the school bond election last Spring, there being a difference in the city registration and the registration for county and state elections. Registrar Wood is located in the office of the tax collector each day, the books closing Monday night at sundown.

DEATH KNELL TO NEAR BEER

And Other Drinks of Like Nature.

House Passes Bill Prohibiting Sale of Near Beer, Beerine and Like Drinks, Effective June 1—The Quickel Bill Passes House—Henderson Dogs and Bachelors to Be Taxed — Protest Against Change of Fashion.

Raleigh, Feb. 2.—The house tonight passed by a vote of 91 to 7 the bill, offered by Representative Kent, of Caldwell, prohibiting the sale of near beer, beerine and like drinks in the state. The bill is to be effective on June 1 if passed by the senate and it is practically assured that the senate will pass the bill at once.

The Senate.

Petitions and Resolutions Offered.

Petitions protesting against the sale of near beer were offered by Senators Bennett, of Stanly; Davis, of Carteret; Carpenter, of Gaston; McDonald, of Moore; Hiatt, of Yancey; Martin, of Buncombe; Holden, of Franklin; Hobgood, of Guilford; Anderson, of Clay; Brown, of Columbus; Baggett, of Harnett; Bellamy, of Brunswick, and Hicks, of Granville.

Senator Graham, of Orange, offered an unique petition from a citizen of Orange protesting against the frequent changes of fashion and asking that cartoons in newspapers be prohibited.

Introduction of Bills.

Hobgood, of Guilford: Provide for maintenance of Guilford Battle Ground; also amend the charter of the city of Greensboro.

Thorne, of Nash; Encourage the use of goods manufactured by independent concerns and discourage the use of trust made goods; also amend section 1105 of the revisal of 1905 extending the privilege of exchanging free transportation upon railroads in this state to other common carriers.

Passed and Sent to the House.

Increase the number of regents of Barium Springs Orphanage and allow the institution to own more than $1,000,000 worth of property.

Protect owners of land in Guilford in the enjoyment of their rights.

The House.

Speaker Dowd convened the House at 10 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Johnson, pastor of the Christian church, offered the prayer.

Representative Connor presented a petition signed by two hundred Southern Railway employees asking that railroad relief associations be prohibited.

Petitions against the sale of near beer and the use of intoxicating liquors in clubs came from Rowan, Stanly, Durham, Pasquotank, Richmond, Wayne, Davidson, Chowan, New Hanover, Pender, Beaufort, Halifax, Haywood and Washington counties and from Goldsboro, Greensboro, several church associations and Tabernacle Baptist church, Raleigh.

Included among the bills reported favorably by the finance committee were bills to fix the pay of the Guilford county commissioners and refund amounts commissioners have paid into the county treasury.

From the committee on counties, cities and towns there came with favorable report the Battle bill to empower towns and cities in this state to amend present charters or adopt new ones on petition of voters without legislative acts, thus enabling them to adopt commission or any other form of government consistent with the state constitution. Also this committee reported favorably the Ewart bill to amend the anti-trust law by giving the attorney general power to institute prosecution on his own motion for violations and making violations a felony with forfeiture of charter rights.

Representative Taylor on Brunswick County.

Representative Taylor of Brunswick, arising to a question of personal privilege called attention to the list of "alleged pauper counties" filed by the state treasurer. and contended that the list includes many that would not be there if the figures were to show the amount of corporation taxes paid directly into the state treasury. Brunswick would not be exeluded by this rule, but a great many would. But Brunswick, he insisted, was paying its proportionate part of state taxes compared with other counties. It has no large industrial city, but was a large county with small population, having a great deal of waste and marsh lands. It was near the scene of hostilities during the civil war and has many old soldiers and their widows on the pension list. The climate is indicative to longevity and the veterans and their widows live to ripe old age. as do other Brunswick people. He claimed it to be largely due to this fact that Brunswick receives more money from the state treasury in pensions alone than it pays in state taxes and is classed as a pauper county. Property is assessed in Brunswick, he said at as fair a value as in any other county and Brunswick pays taxes in proportion to other counties.

Quickel Bill Passed.

Consideration of the minority report favorable for the Quickel bill to repeal the penalty of misdemeanor on railroad employees for working over sixteen hours a day specified by the act of 1907 was resumed. Mr. Bethel argued for the bill. Mr. Spainhour also favored the bill, arguing that under the act proposed to be amended the employees are between the devil and deep blue sea in that they refuse to obey orders from railroad officials to work over time they might be discharged and if they do obey them they would be guilty of misdemeanor, and, if injured or killed would be barred from suit for recovery of damages. The amendment would enable the injured employee or family of those killed to sue for rightful damages.

Mr. Ray, of Macon, urged in opposition to the bill that the employee is held to be guilty of misdemeanor along with the railroad as a protection to the public that travelers are abundantly entitled to. Mr. Long, of Alamance, and Mr. Kellum, of New Hanover, signers of the minority favorable report, spoke in support of their position. Mr. Witherspoon spoke at length in opposition to the bill and Mr. Devin, of Granville, and Mr. Rawles, of Pamlico. The minority favorable report was adopted by a large vote. Then it passed second reading. Mr. Dillard, of Cherokee, objected to third reading, but the rules were suspended and the bill passed on final reading and sent to the senate.

The bill providing for a tax of one dollar on dogs, justices of the peace and bachelors in Henderson county introduced by Representative Ewart was put on its readings. Mr. Ewart explained his bill. Dogs are killing sheep, scratching fleas and spreading hydrophobia all over the county; bachelors are afflicting the county and retarding progress and growth in spite of the fact that Henderson has the prettiest girls in the world, and justices of the peace more than a hundred of them, are afflicting the county and the state with cost of book and other supplies to which they are entitled by reason of their office.

An amendment by Connor that Mr. Ewart be made a justice of the peace for life was lost. Another to strike out justice of the peace was lost and the bill passed its readings and was ordered sent to the senate.

Bills Passed Final Reading.

Protect public against infectuous and contagious diseases by making it a misdemeanor for one having such disease to do anything that would communicate it to another.

Amend the charter of Greensboro. Concerning this Mr. Kirkman explained that cures a defect in the Greensboro commission government bill.

Give licensed livery stable keepers lein on animals fed and vehicles kept for feed and keep. There was opposition but it passed 48 to 13. Amend the Revisal relatives to escapes.

The House adjourned at 1:30 o'clock to 8 o'clock.

K. of P. Work In State.

Grand Chancellor E. A. McCausland, of Charlotte; Grand Keeper of Records and Seal W. T. Hollowell, of Goldsboro, and State Deputy Jas. D. Nutt, of Wilmington, were in the city yesterday conferring with Messrs. G. H. Royster and C. C. McLean regarding the work of the Pythian order in the state. The first half of the fiscal year, just closed, has been highly satisfactory and the committee decided on the plans for the second half of the year. The plans outlined call for considerable activity in securing new members and instituting new lodges during the next six months.

AMENDMENTS TO CITY'S CHARTER

Not Taken up Last Night as Expected.

Aldermen Decide to Wait Until After Tuesday's Election—The Houston Street Matter Postponed—Committee Favors Allowing Spur Track to Be Run Into Auditorium—Several Matters Considered by Board.

The Board of Aldermen held a short session last night, the meeting being for the purpose of taking action regarding the Houston street matter and to consider some proposed amendments to the present charter to be enacted into law in case the commission plan is defeated. Mayor Stafford presided and all the members of the Board were present, except Alderman Ellington, who is out of the city.

The Houston street matter came up, but as Mr. A. L. Brooks, counsel for the Central Carolina Construction Company was out of the city, the matter was postponed until next Friday afternoon. The company owns land on either side of the street and not knowing that the city intended using the property as a street began erecting a building on one side of the proposed street. Property owners objected and the matter came before the aldermen with the request that the street be opened.

The committee appointed at the last meeting to consider the advisability of permitting a spur track to be laid across Hughes alley, Sycamore street and the city's property between the two streets and into the Auditorium building reported favorably, provided the city was not to pay the cost of constructing the track across its property. Action was deferred until the next meeting.

The proposed amendments to the present charter came up, but as it is only four days until the commission form is to be voted on it was decided to wait until after the election before considering the amendments as it would be a waste of time in case the commission plan is decided on.

The question as to the damages to the barn of Mrs. Schenck, Gorrell street, which was destroyed by fire nearly a year ago, comes up and it was voted to allow $15 damages, this action not to be construed that the city admitted that it was responsible for the fire. The owners allege that the fire was caused by sparks from the city's steam roller while the street adjoining the barn was being worked. The building inspector reported that the damages would probably reach $50 and the owners asked for this amount. However, the city had information that the building was not worth more than $15. There is some doubt that the fire was caused by the roller engine.

The board adjourned to meet Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock to canvass the election returns, it being provided that this should be done within 24 hours after the judges finished the count.

CITY COULD SAVE MONEY.

By Having Purchasing Department and Getting Supplies by Wholesale, Says Mr. Stone.

Editor Telegram:

After several years experience as the head of one of the important commissions of Greensboro I am thoroughly convinced that the city could save at least enough to pay more than the full increased cost of the commission form of government by a systematic business-like management of its purchasing department.

Under the present form it is done in a very loose unbusiness-like way and each department makes its own purchases instead of on a centralized plan which would enable the city to buy in larger quantities at lower prices. This is something for the taxpayers to consider in favor of the new charter.

COLUMBIA PLEASED WITH COMMISSION

Acheville Citizen.

Mr. J. M. Chiles, of LaBarbe, Moale and Chiles, has just returned to the city from a trip South, stopping over in Columbia on his return to this city in order to investigate the workings of the commission form of government in that city. Mr. Chiles stated to a Citzen reporter yesterday that when he left Asheville he had not determined how he would cast his vote in the Asheville election or the mass meeting. For that reason he returned here by way of Columbia so that he might ascertain how this new form of government works in the South Carolina city.

While there, Mr. Chiles stated that he did not hear a dissenting voice against the commission form of government as it now works in Columbia. Merchants, bankers and laboring men there seem to favor it. The city has been managed well since the inauguration of the new form of government and every man with whom Mr. Chiles talked stated that he would vote to continue it were an election called to oust it. However, such an election will not be called there for practically every citizen of Columbia is well pleased with the commission form.

Mr. Chiles stated that he met several strangers there and mentioned the matter only in a casual way and that they had expresed themselves unanimously in favor of the commission form of government.

SHOULD EDUCATE HOGS.

Given Special Food, They Are "Refined" And Taste Better.

Wooster (Ohio) Special in New York Herald.

The State Agricultural Station at Wooster apparently has proved its theory that if hogs were fed certain foods which would produce bigger brains they would become better mannered, more cleanly and would provide better pork than the ordinary swine. The experiment was started a year ago last autumn with 40 selected pigs, which were placed in sanitary pens and reared on special food made from selected grains.

Some months after this treatment and touch of the cleanly life these hogs were let loose from the pen and showed their breeding by not associating at all with common hogs on the station farm.

Unfortunately for the hogs, however, there was no way of telling how much brain matter had been developed without a post-mortem examination. So they were killed as a sacrifice to science. Their meat has been pronounced by experts to be the most succulent and tender ever seen, and will b sold at a big advance over the regular market price of pork.

NOTICE OF SALE.

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage executed to the undersigned by W. H. Hughes and wife, Cora E. Hughes, on the 28th day of June, 1909, to secure the payment of one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars, purchase money, for the land hereinafter described, default having been made in the payment thereof, and the conditions of the said mortgage, whereby the power of sale became operative, reference being had to Book 212, page 198, of the Records of Guilford County, I will on Tuesday, February 14th, 1911, at 12 o'clock noon, at the court house door, in Greensboro, North Carolina, sell to the highest bidder, for cash, the following described property:

That tract of land in Gilmer Township, Guilford County, North Carolina, adjoining the lands of Cornelia Thomas, M. W. Thompson and others, and bounded as follows:

Beginning on the South side of East Washington street, at an iron stake, Northeast corner of lot of Cornelia Thomas, and running thence South four degrees, thirty minutes West, 183.4 feet to stake on the North Carolina Railroad; thence Eastwardly along the Railroad about 44.5 feet to a stake; thence north 4 degrees, 30 minutes East 172 feet to an iron stake on the South side of East Washington street.; thence North 85 degrees 30 minutes West 44.5 feet to an iron stake, point of beginning, being Lot No. 5 and plot of M. W. Thompson, East Washington street property; said plot recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Guilford County.

This the 12th day of January, 1911.

M. W. THOMPSON,
Mortgagee.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

THE CURSE OF GOLD

By CARL SARGENT CHASE

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

I am an old woman, and it is strange to look back and consider what I was when I was young and how absolutely passed away is that world in which I then lived. A stranger matter is that I passed out of it when it still existed. I was considered dead.

I am a Russian by birth and when I was growing up to womanhood imbibed the ideas of a band that were then called nihilists. They have since become revolutionists in Russia, but in other countries the most desperate wing of the sect are anarchists. I was then too young to discriminate between the different beliefs; but, having always been very poor, I readily fell in with those who believed the poor suffer a great injustice on the part of the rich and that the wealth of the world should be divided up among the poor. With this object in view governments which protect the rich should be destroyed.

I had not been a nihilist long before I was ordered to assassinate the minister of the interior. A member of the circle to which I belonged was a friend of and trusted by the minister. This friend was to secure me a position as nurse in the victim's family and I was to poison him.

A few days after I received the order a letter came from America, where an uncle of mine had gone when a boy, stating that he had died and left me a large fortune. What a wonderful change the announcement made in me! Far from thinking that I should divide with the poor, I thought that my fortune should be my own.

How I left Russia secretly, how I reached America and was put in possession of my fortune I will not give here. No one but myself knew of my inheritance till after it had been paid me. But I was sure that it would serve to identify me and that some one would be sent to inflict upon me a sentence of death for not having carried out the edict of the society.

I converted my fortune—it amounted to $100,000—into gold. I could get no interest on gold, but I did not dare to purchase securities, for my name must appear on them. Even if I put my money in a savings bank, taking a book in lieu of a receipt, I could not get it back without signing my name.

And now began the most dreadful period of my life, dreadful in this—I must spend money to live besides money to go from place to place, for I dared not remain in one location. I was therefore obliged to draw on my capital. Besides this, I must take care of and move my gold, which was very heavy. I was in constant dread not only of robbery, but that while traveling my gold would be lost. I had a very strong ironbound trunk made, padded inside, and in this I put my gold in little bags, each bag containing a thousand dollars. This trunk I never lost sight of and was continually troubled about it. Sometimes the strangeness of my position would occur to me. I had believed that the poor should take away the possessions of the rich, and here was I, rich, continually on the rack about my possessions. Miserable as I had been in poverty, I sometimes envied my former lot. This money that had seemed so desirable to me, what comfort was I getting out of it? Carting around a trunk that I was constantly afraid I would lose or would betray me was certainly no pleasure.

Ten years of this kind of life passed, during which on several occasions I met my own countrymen who I knew were nihilists. Finally I met a Russian friend who had no affiliation with the nihilists. She agreed to write to those I had left behind that she had seen me in a hospital, where I was lying at the point of death, and that I had died there. She afterward told me that her story was believed and I would soon be forgotten both by those who loved me and those who had condemned me.

I saw now a new life before me. I took another name and invested my money, of which I had $85,000 left. But I lived an exile's life and did not make friends. My money could not give me happiness. I tried to interest myself in banks, but I had not been educated, and I took no interest in them. Time hung heavy on my hands.

One day I went past a factory. Working girls were coming out, and none of them had the unhappy face that I had. I thought of the day when I, too, was a working girl and realized that, after all, I was happier then than I was now. If I could only be occupied the days would not seem so long to me.

The next day I went to the factory where I had seen the girls and asked for a position without pay till I could learn the work to be done. My offer was accepted, and I went to work the next morning.

I worked for five years, then married a fellow laborer. Since my marriage my occupation has been caring for my home and my children. The cursed gold left me by my uncle is accumulating. No one living but myself knows of it. I don't know what to do with it. Labor alone keeps us contented. I do not wish my children to receive a cent of my fortune.

It has been a curse to me, and I dread lest it be a curse to them. I would not object to their receiving it when they become old enough to know something of how it may be made a benefit.

MARK TWAIN

1/2 Price

A New Edition

Now for the first time you get a complete set of all Mark Twain's writings at just exactly one-half the price they have ever been sold before. This is a new edition, just as complete as the old one, which still sells, by the way, at $50.00. This new edition is only $25.00—for the 25 volumes.

It had been Mark Twain's ambition to have his books in every American home, and he made a great personal sacrifice to bring about this remarkable opportunity—for the first time in the history of publishing, copyrighted books are sold at the price of non-copyrighted books—the chance will not come again.

But for Mark Twain's action this would have been impossible. Never before has a copyrighted library set of a standard author's works been issued at such a low figure.

His Complete Works—25 Beautiful Volumes

Brander Matthews says: "Mark Twain will be included in that group of writers headed by Molière and Cervantes. With the exception of Count Tolstoi, Twain was the greatest of recent modern writers, and will be handed down to posterity through the trio of his works 'Huckleberry Finn,' 'Tom Sawyer,' and 'Pudd'nhead Wilson.' Twain is a greater stylist than Stevenson or Thoreau, and his 'Man that Corrupted Hadleyburg' is one of the finest works in English literature." Mark Twain himself wrote a preface to this edition. Brander Matthews has written the biographical criticism of Mark Twain and his work. There are portraits of the author at periods when the different books were in process of writing.

There are beautiful pictures by such artists as Frost, Newell, Smedley, Thulstrup, Clinedinst, Kemble, and Opper. The binding is in rich red rep silk book cloth, with title labels stamped in gold. The books are printed on white antique wove paper, especially made for this edition. Each volume is of generous size and bulk, 5x7¼ inches.

Please send me for examination, carriage free, a set of MARK TWAIN'S WORKS, Author's National Edition, twenty-five volumes, cloth binding. It is understood I may retain the set for five days, and at the expiration of that time, if I do not care for the books, I will return them at your expense. If I keep the books, I will remit $2.00 a month until the full price, $25.00, has been paid, or, within thirty days, $23.75 as payment in full.

Let us follow Columbia with the commission form and then proceed to get some share of her present free advertising business.

Col. Wescott Roberson perhaps knows by this time that a man who was not born to humor would better follow his native bent.

The News and Observer asks to know "where are the legislators who thundered against the trusts?" They have perhaps forgotten their campaign orations and are waiting for a few spare moments to formulate new ones.

The principle seems to be pretty well established in North Carolina that when a town can boast of at least 10,000 inhabitants a new county must be formed. And as the State is growing very rapidly no one knows where the practice will end.

A legalized primary is one of the greatest needs of our State, and it is to be hoped that the Legislature will not allow matters of minor importance to overshadow and crowd out this issue. The next thing to fraud is temptation to commit it, and the present system, or lack of system, is largely responsible for both.

Raleigh is talking of getting in on the interstate trolley line and of introducing the commission form of government. She is welcomed and to be congratulated for her noble aspirations. It would give, too, a fine opportunity to have erected just where the market house is still standing a magnificent terminal station, and arrangements might be made to have the city commissioners' offices and a large auditorium on the second floor.

HIGH POINT HASN'T DEMONSTRATED THE NEED FOR A NEW COUNTY.

The High Point Enterprise says that the new county is absolutely necessary because of the irreconcilable differences existing between High Point and Greensboro. And the truth is, Greensboro has always been proud of her sister town. High Point is young and strong and ambitious; and because she is strong and ambitious she has forgotten that youth is not wisdom, and for Greensboro's advice she has added enmity to adolescent pride. And if she is to continue to chafe and fret and stand disdainfully aloof from us, we would far better let her have her court house and a plot of ground. But Guilford county is not in position to be dismembered except for a mighty good reason, and the only reason advanced by the High Pointers at Raleigh was that Greensboro is losing out and is not worthy of the patronage of such an aggressive community as High Point. That was the burden of nearly every address delivered on behalf of the proposed new county. There's too much at stake for Guilford to lose by reason of any such supercilious and fatuous prating as that.

WE ARE READY.

When the fathers of this republic drafted the Constitution there was in all the world but one similar to it. Now there are more than twenty patterend after that of the United States. Yet not all of these constitutions have served to make perfect the governments based upon them. Some of the people supposedly under constitutional administration are yet in a state of anarchy and rebellion; others are ruled as despotically as if they were subjects of the Sultan of Turkey or the bureaucracy of Russia; others are composed of free, intelligent, and self-governing citizens.

The lesson is, that, no matter what kind of a republican form of government a nation may have, it will prove effective for either good or evil according as the majority of the citizenship are people of intelligence and clean moral life or are ignorant, base, and distrustful.

The same observations may be made upon the government of cities. There are, perhaps, a few cities in America that would continue the practice of corrupt government, no matter what the system; but it is to be seen that the few exceptional cases are those municipalities which have adhered to the old aldermanic system; and it is significant that the best governed cities under this regime are dissatisfied and are rapidly adopting the more simple plan of placing control in the hands of commissioners who are directly amenable to all the people for their acts.

Where the majority of the citizens are honest and of moral integrity and upright principles the flimsy reason advanced by opponents of the commission form that they are afraid too much power given to the commissioners will defeat the very purpose of the system is to doubt the wisdom and safety of representative government. So that the question before the citizens of Greensboro is simply, Are we ready for government of and by the people through representatives elected by a majority?—a question both tardy and foolish, at least in North Carolina. Yet, that is the simple issue now to be passed upon.

Familiar Figures.

Mr. D. went to the club, leaving Mrs. D. with a lady friend whose abilities as a scandalmonger and mischief maker were pre-eminent. When he returned he just poked his head into the drawing room and said, with a sigh of relief, "That old cat's gone, I suppose?"

For an instant there was a profound silence, for as he uttered the last word he encountered the stony stare of the lady who had been in his mind. Then his wife came to the rescue.

"Oh, yes, dear," she said. "I sent it to the cats' home in a basket this morning."

Poison In War.

When the French beat the Formosans along the coast in 1881 the latter retired to the interior. When the French pursued them they found a queer line of defense, beyond which they could make no progress and in storming which many died. The Formosans had poisoned the springs, water courses, etc., as they retreated, and the campaigns of the French against them never got farther than the poison line. The poison was a native one, as deadly as arsenic or strychnine.

Argus Eyed and Hydra Headed.

The term "Argus eyed" means watchful. According to the Grecian fable, Argus had 100 eyes, and Juno set him to watch all of whom she was jealous. When Argus was slain she transplanted his eyes into the tail of the peacock. "Hydra headed" is a term derived from the fable of Hercules and the hydra. The hydra had nine heads, and Hercules was sent to kill it. As soon as he struck off one of its heads two shot up in its place.

No Fire Within.

Times have changed. Our fathers for some strange reason preferred a cold meeting house to one which was warmed by artificial heat. When a stove was put into the Old South church, Boston, in 1783 a newspaper of contemporary date contained this significant lament:

Extinct the sacred fire of love.
Our zeal grown cold and dead,
In the house of God we fixed a stove
To warm us in their stead.

REPLIES TO MR. LOVE.

Mr. Justice Sets Forth Reasons Why Superintendent of Schools Is Given Power to Discharge Teachers.

Editor Telegram.

I assume that Mr. Wm. Love is bona-fide objecting to the provision of the proposed charter with reference to the power of the superintendent of schools, and he and any others that may object to the charter upon that ground are entitled to have their objections answered before they can be expected to approve of that feature of the charter.

Mr. Love says that if a school teacher is wrongfully discharged she has no means or opportunity under the charter of having her grievances redressed. The charter provides that if the superintendent of schools discharges a teacher or other employe there is no appeal, but it also provides that he is to report to the commissioners within 24 hours the fact of such discharge and if either of the commissioners ask the superintendent for his reasons for discharging a teacher he shall state them in full in writing. It is easy to imagine cases where it would be well for the reasons not to be made public, but if the teacher discharged, or the discharged teacher's friends or family want the reasons assigned and ask the commissioners to require it it is highly improbable that their request would not be granted. The commissioners have power to discharge the superintendent for any cause and from their ruling he had no right of appeal (except of course an appeal to the people).

If the superintendent has, in the judgment of the commissioners, wrongfully discharged a teacher there are two courses left for them, one is to indicate to the superintendent that they think he ought to take the teacher back, and if he persists in refusing to do so the other course is to remove the superintendent and elect a new one; in which event the teacher would probably be replaced, but if she were not she would be vindicated by the discharge of the superintendent.

When a superintendent of schools discharges a teacher and insists that she should not teach in a school of which he is superintendent, I do not believe that Mr. Love or anyone else who thinks the matter carefully over will believe that the teacher ought to be forced back under the superintendent over his protest. In such event either the teacher or the superintendent ought to go. The interests of the schools require it. Under the proposed charter the board has the power to discharge the superintendent, but should not have the power to run the schools while he is superintendent. This question was carefully considered by a number of citizens of Greensboro who have devoted their lives to school work and it is hardly fair to them to assume that they have favored a charter which is as unfair to the teachers as my friends Mr. Love fears it will be.

Many of the objections to the charter are like this objection in that they proceed upon the idea that the questions that occur to the minds of the objectors have not occurred to anyone else and have not been provided against.

PAY OFFICIALS TO DO THE WORK

To the Voters:

The result of the meeting in the court house seems to me to have, at least clarified the atmosphere somewhat. The opponents of the measure, the advocates of the measure and those who had not yet made up their minds what to do were all represented. There were probably three or four hundred people present, and there were but one or two minor changes suggested. Out of that large crowd of serious minded, patriotic citizens most of them had probably given serious attention to the matter. The only important point about which different views were expressed was as to whether the voters as a whole or the aldermen should elect the commissioners. The question in 1909 was shall we have the commission form of government with the commissioners elected by the Board of Aldermen, or shall we continue under the old plan?

A large mass meeting of good citizens decided by an overwhelming majority against the new plan with the commissioners elected by the Board of Aldermen. Now the question is—shall we change from our present plan to a commission form of government with the commissioners elected by the people?

It seems, therefore, that if the proposed plan is not adopted there is no way to get away from the present plan.

I have seen no one who really believes that we are living under a good plan of municipal government now.

It has been suggested that we might have a number of commissions under a Board of Aldermen to run the city, but I beg those who are thinking of this as the proper solution to consider that no city ever has done well under such a scheme. Asheville, Charlotte and Wilmington all tried it and none of these places like it. Below is an extract from today's Charlotte Observer on that subject:

"Asheville is now in the midst of a commission form of government agitation, but pending such a change an interesting step has been taken in the direction of consolidation of authority. Two years ago a police commission was created with the laudable purpose of taking this important department out of politics, but necessarily all financial actions taken by the commission were subsequently submitted to the Board of Aldermen for ratification. So cumbersome has this duplication of authority proved that a strong effort was recently inaugurated to get the legislature to abolish the commission and place the department again under the direct authority of the aldermen. This action has been taken by the Legislature.

"The endeavor to increase governmental efficiency in North Carolina by the creation of various boards to operate along with and under the board of aldermen has not been a brilliant success. In addition to the unwieldly machinery thus provided for, there is large opportunity for disputed jurisdiction. It will be recalled in this connection that Durham has recently pruned off a similar subsidiary commission. It is coming to be agreed that diffusion of responsibility is one of the greatest foes to effective municipal progress."

The true principle is to pay your city officials to do all your work, but not pay any more of them than are necessary to do the work. When you have done this you have concentrated responsibility, and when you give the voters control over the commissioners you have democratic form of government, or an efficient government by the people. Any man who believes in the election of United States senators by the people ought to believe in electing commissioners by the people in order to be consistent.

TELEPHONE 135.

Then They Talked in English.

A couple of Cleveland business men visited Mexico. In Mexico City their train was switched from one station to another. One of the Clevelanders went to the first station to make inquiries. Approaching a pair of dark visaged employees, he cudgeled his memory for the proper words from the phrase book.

"Donde esta?" he hesitatingly asked and paused.

The two dark visaged persons listened attentively.

"Gracias," stammered the Cleveland man. "Donde estan?"

And after that it was easy.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Donkey's Choice.

The vexed question of the future life of animals has troubled the Mohammedan, as it has other religions. The question, it seems, was considered by Allah a long time ago, and all the animals were asked if they wished to enter paradise. They at once said yes, except the donkeys. These were cautious and asked if little boys went to heaven. The answer being yes, they replied, "In that case we prefer to go to—the other place." S. H. Leeder vouches for the fable in "The Desert Gateway."

Friendships.

There are three friendships which are advantageous and three which are injurious. Friendship with the upright, friendship with the sincere and friendship with the man of much information—these are advantageous. Friendship with the man of specious airs, friendship with the insinuatingly soft, friendship with the glib tongued—these are injurious.—Confucius.

Cutting Down the Butcher's Bill.

"Isn't there any way to cut down a butcher's bill?" asked Tightwad, sarcastically addressing his meat man.

"Why, yes, Mr Tightwad," said the latter. "You might pay a little on account now and then."—Harper's Weekly.

It is easier to enrich ourselves with a thousand virtues than to correct ourselves of a single fault.—Bruyere.

Four Months For Larceny.

In Municipal Court yesterday morning Harrison Waddell, colored, was given a hearing on the charge of larceny, being found guilty. He was sentenced to four months on the roads. Robert Lee, colored, was arraigned on the charge of larceny, the case being continued until Saturday. An affray case against Arnold and English Bodenheimer was continued.

VIVIEN GOULD'S ANCESTRY.

New York Press.

Vivien Gould's marriage to Baron Decies will not be what even a European would call a mesalliance. She is a descendant of British aristocrats as truly as he. Her lineage on her mother's side has been traced to the twelfth century, and the College of Heralds in England is investigating an assertion by an eminent genealogist that the origin of Mrs. Gould's family is even more remote. It became known among friends of the heiress yesterday that the heraldic authorities shortly will announce officially they have verified the belief that the line is at least one hundred years older than at first was supposed.

Mrs. George J. Gould, mother of the bride-elect, was Edith Kingdon when she was wedded to Jay Gould's eldest son. Not only was she one of the most beautiful women on the stage when George Gould wooed her, but by many of her theatrical contemporaries she was referred to not sarcastically, as "the patrician." As Miss Kingdon, however, she was too American in her sympathies to care much about her descent from men of title. It was not until she had been Mrs. Gould for more than a decade that her friends in this country learned that she was the daughter of the famous Kyngdon family of England.

The news reached the friends of the multi-millionaire's wife in the form of an ornate book compiled and published by relatives of the Goulds as a tribute to her. In that book is set forth the result of an exhaustive search of the records in the British Museum. The array of facts shows that Mrs. Geo. Gould has one of the most honorable coats of arms known to heraldry. If she wished she might display on her carriages, stationery, silver and bookplates a crest as distinguished as that of Lord Decies. That she does not avail herself of the privilege is due, her friends say, to the same democratic spirit that characterized her before Geo. Gould ran the risk of disinheritance by wedding a woman of the stage, and which, they assert, has clung to her through all her really big social success.

All the Kyngdons—the family used to spell the name with a "y"—were known throughout the realm as "scholarly and valorous." Their scholarship must have been particularly prominent to be placed ahead of valor in the chronicles of those times. Yet the women as well as men, judging from the archives in the British Museum, were brave enough to win special mention in a period when physical courage was taken for granted in the case of everybody except clerks and thralls. Almost every time the Kyngdons are referred to in the queer old volumes explored by the College of Heralds, the phrase "scholarly and valorous" follows their name.

PNEUMONIA FOLLOWS A COLD.

But never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar, which checks the cough and expels the cold. M. Stockwell, Hannibal, Mo., says: "It beats all the remedies I ever used. I contracted a bad cold and cough and was threatened with pneumonia. One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar completely cured me." No opiates, just a reliable household medicine. Howard Gardner.

Thoughtful Girl.

The young man was calling on the girl. He didn't know her very well, but she looked good to him. He wanted to call again the next night, but hardly had the nerve to ask permission to do so.

"I'd like to come up again," he said when he was ready to go home. "How about next week some time?"

A look of disappointment came over her face. "Next week?" she said. "Why isn't that—er—well, I'll tell you what to do; you come up tomorrow night and we'll decide which night next week you may call."—Detroit Times.

Remember the Name

Foleys Hony and Tar for all coughs and colds, for croup, bronchitis, hoarseness and for racking lagrippe coughs. No opiates. Refuse substitutes. Howard Gardner.

Nell—"She complains that she makes a bare living." Belle—"What does she do?" Nell—"She's an artist's model."

Foley's Kidney Pills are a reliable remedy for backache, rheumatism and urinary irregularities. They are tonic in action, quick in results and afford a prompt relief from all kidney disorders. Howard Gardner.

Home protection is true wisdom. Vick's Croup and Pneumonia Salve ought to be in every home for its quick relief and prevention of two dangerous diseases and the more common ailments such as Colds, Catarrh, Burns and Chaps.

Blobbs—"I wonder why she married him." Slobbs—"She was afraid some other girl was going to."

Rheumacide
IT CURES

Rheumatism and Blood Diseases

The cause of rheumatism is excess uric acid in the blood. To cure rheumatism this acid must be expelled from the system. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. Rubbing with oils and liniments may ease the pain, but they will no more cure rheumatism than paint will change the fiber of rotten wood.

Cures Rheumatism To Stay Cured.

Science has discovered a perfect and complete cure called Rheumacide. Tested in hundreds of cases, it has effected marvelous cures. Rheumacide removes the cause, gets at the joints from the inside, sweeps the poisons out of the system, tones up the stomach, regulates the bowels and kidneys. Sold by druggists at 50c. and $1; in the tablet form at 25c. and 50c., by mail. Booklet free. Bobbitt Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

BABY AS ADMISSION CARD.

Father Ennis Will Bless Many Infants Next Sunday.

Baltimore Sun.

Theodore Roosevlt would undoubtedly be "delighted" were he to be present at St. Ignatius 'Catholic Church, Calvert and Madison streets, next Sunday afternoon and see the Baltimore babies that will be brought to the church to be blessed by Rev. William J. Ennis, who is conducting a two-week mission at the church.

Infants of all sizes and color of hair and eyes will make their presence "felt" with lusty yells, and mothers will proudly exhibit their offspring for the admiration of other mothers. It will be a novel gathering and many of the young ones will have long rides, for inquiries have been received from many parts of the city asking for details of the ceremony.

It is said that this will be the first time such a service has been held in this city. Father Ennis has conducted similar services in other cities and said yesterday that the churches were generally crowded to the doors.

The mothers, with their children will assemble at the church at 3 o'clock. After the singing of a hymn the missionary will give a short talk to the mothers. He will point out to them the "glory of motherhood and the evil of race suicide." The babies will then be held aloft and the priest will pass through the church sprinkling them with holy water and pronouncing the words of benediction. Rev. F. X. Brady, rector of the church, will also give his blessing, and if it is not too late benediction of the blessed sacrament will follow.

A baby will be the "admission card" to the services. Those mothers who come unaccompanied by babies will have to give way to those who bring them. The service will last about half an hour.

Tortured For 15 Years.

by a cure-defying stomach trouble that baffled doctors, and resisted all remedies he tried, John W. Modders, of Moddersville, Mich., seemed doomed. He had to sell his farm and give up work. His neighbors said, "he can't live much longer." "Whatever I ate distressed me," he wrote, "till I tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for me that I can now eat things I could not take for years. Its surely a grand remedy for stomach trouble." Just as good for the liver and kidneys. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

"Won't you join the national campaign to beautify our cities?"

"I'm deep into it already. My wife has painted a spray of flowers on our ash barrel."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Backache, Rheumatism, Sleeplessness

Result from disordered kidneys. Foley Kidney Pills have helped others, they will help you. Mrs. J. B. Miller, Syracuse, N. Y., says: "For a long time I suffered with kidney trouble and rheumatism. I had severe backaches and felt all played out. After taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Pills my backache is gone and where I used to lie awake with rheumatic pains I now sleep in comfort. Foley's Kidney Pills did wonderful things for me." Try them now. Howard Gardner.

Perhaps more men would go to church if they had to sneak through a side door.

A Stubborn Opening.

The head of the household was going through her husband's pockets the next morning.

"What kept you out so late last night?" she suddenly demanded.

"It was the opening of the campaign, my dear," the lesser half replied.

"Well, it didn't take three corkscrews to open it, did it?"

A Riot of Ink.

Canon Nicholl used to tell how on one occasion he had visited the famous house of the Thrales in that suburb of London where Dr. Johnson was at home. "Johnson," said the canon in recalling his visit, "had occupied two rooms, and these were left as he last used them. The sight was an extraordinary one, for ink was splashed all over the floor and even on the walls. It was one of the doctor's habits to dip his pen in ink and then shake it."

Teaching the Teacher.

Teacher—Johnny, what part of speech is 'nose?' Johnny—'Tisn't any. Teacher—Ah, but it must be. Johnny—Maybe yours is, because you talk through it, but the only part of speech I've got is my mouth.

SPEEDY RELIEF FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE.

"I had an acute atack of Bright's disease with inflammation of the kidneys and bladder and dizziness," says Mrs. Cora Thorp, Jackson, Mich. "A bottle of Foley's Kidney Remedy overcame the attack, reduced the inflammation, took away the pain and made the bladder action normal. I wish everyone could know of this wonderful remedy." Howard Gardner.

Hubbubs—"Now that you are living out of town don't you find it very inconvenient to be always catching trains?" Subbubs—"Not at all. It's always missing them that's inconvenient."

LA GRIPPE COUGHS.

Strain and weaken the system and if not checked may develop into pneumonia. No danger of this when Foley's Honey and Tar is taken promptly. It is a reliable family medicine for all coughs and colds, and acts quickly and effectively in cases of croup. Refuse substitutes. Howard Gardner.

Harduppe—"I've known you a long time, Wigwag. After all, old friends are dearest." Wigwag—"Yes, they usually owe us the most money."

This is what Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ledbetter said on January 22:

"Gentlemen: Last night our daughter, age five years, was taken suddenly with pneumonia. We used 1-2 box of Mother's Joy as directed, and today she is almost well, thanks to the good remedy so near at hand and so cheap. This was a violent case, and hope you success. 520 Laura avenue."

Falls Victim to Thieves.

S. W. Bends, of Coal City, Ala., has a justifiable grievance. Two thieves stole his health for twelve years. They were a liver and kidney trouble. Then Dr. King's New Life Pills throttled them. He's well now. Unrivaled for Constipation, Malaria, Headache, Dyspepsia. 25c. Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

The Famous Rayo

Gives the Best Light at Any Price

When you pay more than the Rayo price for a lamp, you are paying for extra decorations that cannot add to the quality of the light. You can't pay for a better light, because there is none. An oil light has the least effect on the human eye, and the Rayo Lamp is the best oil lamp made, though low in price. You can pay $5, $10, or $20 for some other lamp, and although you get a more costly lamp, you can't get a better light than the white, mellow, diffused, unflickering light of the low-priced Rayo.

Has a strong, durable shade-holder. This season's burner adds to the strength and appearance. Made of solid brass, nickeled, and easily polished.

Burma's Gilded Pagoda.

Rangoon, the principal city of Burma, grew up around the sacred spot on which is built the great Shoay Dagon pagoda, one of its principal wonders. "Rising to a height of 360 feet, its size is greatly enhanced by the fact that it stands on an eminence that is itself 166 feet above the level of the city," says a writer. "It is covered with pure gold from base to summit, and once in every generation this gold is completely renewed by public subscription. Yet throughout the interval the process of regilding goes on perpetually. Pious people who seek in this way to express their veneration and to add to their store of spiritual merit climb up daily with little fluttering packets of gold leaf, which they fasten on some fraction of its great surface. There is no more picturesque sight offered by it than that of a group of these silken worshipers outlined high against its gold in the act of contributing their small quota to its splendor. The pagoda itself has no interior. It is a solid stupa of brick raised over a relic chamber."

Old Man of the Mountain.

The title "Old Man of the Mountain" was first applied to Hassan Ben Sabbal, who founded a formidable dynasty in Syria A. D. 1090. He was the prince or chief of the sect of the Mohammedans. Having been banished from his country, he took up his abode in Mount Lebanon and gathered round him a band of followers, who soon became the terror alike of Christians, Jews and Turks. They paid the most implicit obedience to his commands and believed that if they sacrificed their lives for his sake they would be rewarded with the highest joys of paradise. For 200 years these "assassins," as they called themselves, continued to be the terror of the country. Whenever their chief, the "Old Man of the Mountain," considered himself injured he dispatched some of his assassins secretly to murder the aggressor. This is the origin of our use of the word assassin for a secret murderer.

Serpents and Music.

Barnard concludes from his personal observation of cobras in Ceylon, says the Scientific American, that the serpent's traditional love for music is a pure fable and that the only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity, which is excited by any loud and acute sound. The cobra protrudes its head from its burrow alike on hearing the snake charmer's flute, the rattling of a chain or the sounds made by beating the ground with a switch. It appears to perceive only sounds of high pitch, for it pays no attention to the low notes of the flute or the beating of the drum. Barnard also confirmed in Ceylon the results of observations made in the London zoological garden on the supposed power of fascination exerted by serpents upon birds, and he concludes that this power of fascination is also purely imaginary.

Arms and the Man.

"I see you have your arm in a sling," said the inquisitive passenger. "Broken, is it?"

"Yes, sir," responded the other passenger.

"Meet with an accident?"

"No. Broke it while I was trying to pat myself on the back."

"Great Scott! What for?"

"For minding my own business."

"I see. Never could happen to me, could it?"

"No."

"And if it did I wouldn't be blame fool enough to tell it."

Then there was silence in the car.—Chicago Tribune.

Superior Court.

The February term of Guilford Superior Court for the trial of civil cases will convene on Monday, Feb. 13, and continue for two weeks. There are eighty-one cases on the calendar. A majority of the cases will no doubt be long drawn out and it is hardly probable that more than half the cases will be reached.
